

Practiced attorney shares advice

By Carrie Buntain

Advertising Director

The newly created Family Law Society hosted nationally renowned Jackson family law practitioner Mark Chinn on October 28. Mr. Chinn spoke to students about building the law practice of your dreams and shared what he has learned over years of successful practice.

Chinn

His presentation included valuable information on how to reconcile personal and professional goals in order to become “the architect of the law firm of your dreams.”

For more information on current issues in family law, visit Mr. Chinn’s family law blog at www.markchinn.blogspot.com

On Wednesday, December 1, at 11:45am in room 150, the Family Law Society will host Heather Wagner and Paula Broome of the Attorney General’s Domestic Violence Division as they discuss Mississippi domestic violence law.

The mission of the Family Law Society is to serve our members by organizing, promoting and administering programs and member benefits in order to increase professional competence and responsibility, foster collegiality among our members and members of the local bench and bar, and improve students’ understanding and appreciation for family and juvenile law. For more information contact Carrie Buntain at buntain@mc.edu.